

JESSICA RUSSELL & STEVE EUSER

JUNE 16, 2012

FOR LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS JESSICA AND STEVE, finding a beautiful wedding venue was high on their priority list. Enter the scenic Estates of Sunnybrook, a site famous for its manicured lawns and historic buildings. With a classic-meets-vintage wedding vibe in mind, the two ensured that all the details of their day fit their theme. This included Jessica's layered Vera Wang gown and their three-tiered white floral wedding cake. To show off their crafty sides, the two created a welcome table made from an old library card cabinet. To refurbish the piece, they inserted beautiful Japanese paper below the custom-cut panes of glass to make the top look decorative. "It was a labour of love," Jessica expresses. "After the wedding we added legs to it, and now we use it as a side table in our new home."

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT

Jessica and Steve both agree that seeing each other for the first time was one of their favourite highlights of the entire day; Jessica's lush bouquet added a feminine touch to their classic-themed wedding; The ornate chandeliers at The Estates of Sunnybrook added a crisp elegance to the ambience; Jessica fondly recalls feeling the most excitement and joy she has ever felt in her life when her dad lifted her veil; Wine corks were used to hold up the table numbers on the couple's reception tables.

DETAILS

ceremony & reception location

Estates of Sunnybrook, estatesofsunnybrook.com

favours Donation to Muscular Dystrophy Canada, muscle.ca

flowers Wild Thyme, wildthyme.ca

groom's tux Tombolini at Got Style, gotstylemenswear.com

photography Boyfriend/Girlfriend, boyfriendgirlfriendpictures.com

WANT TO SEE MORE of this wedding? View additional photos at weddingbells.ca/jessicaandsteve.